4.1 The insurer is entitled to request payment of an appropriate premium for the new risk. If agreement on the amount of the premium is not reached within a month of notification being received, insurance cover for the new risk shall lapse retroactively from the inception of said risk.

4.2 Insurance cover for any new risks from their point of origin to the time when agreement is reached in the sense of No. 4.1.2 above is limited to €500,000 for bodily injury and €150,000 for property damage, and where agreed, for pure financial losses.

4.3 Automatic extension of cover does not extend to risks

4.3.1 arising out of the policyholder’s capacity as proprietor, owner, operator or pilot of motor vehicles, aircraft or watercraft if said vehicles are subject to compulsory insurance, or out-of-court settlement or reimbursement of expenditure incurred in vain in expectation of proper fulfilment of the contract;

4.3.2 arising out of the policyholder’s capacity as proprietor, owner or operator of railways;

4.3.3 which are subject to mandatory insurance;

4.3.4 which will exist for less than one year and which must, therefore, be insured via short-term insurance agreements.

5. Insurance benefits

5.1 The insurance cover comprises investigation of the policyholder’s liability, defence against unjustified claims, and indemnification of the policyholder for compensation he/she has been required to pay on the grounds of a legitimate claim. Legitimate claims are those founded on any admission given or approved by the insurer, or on any out-of-court settlement concluded or approved by the insurer, or on any judicial ruling. Admissions or out-of-court settlements given or made by the policyholder without the approval of the insurer shall be binding upon the insurer only insofar as the claim would have stood even without the admission or out-of-court settlement.

5.2 The insurer is authorized to issue, in the policyholder’s name, all declarations of payment and approvals, including the insurer’s outlay for such expenses does not count towards the limits of indemnity.

5.3 If the insurer desires or approves the retention of defence counsel for the policyholder in criminal proceedings arising from an occurrence which may result in a third-party liability claim covered by the insurance, the insurer shall bear the standard fees of legal representation as laid down in the scale of charges for the legal professions, or such higher defence fees as may have been agreed with the insurer.

5.4 If the policyholder or another insured person becomes entitled to avoid or reduce an annuity awarded for an insured event, the insurer is empowered to exercise this right as well.

6. Benefit limitations

6.1 The limits of indemnity indicated in the insurance policy constitute the maximum amounts payable by the insurer for any one claim. This also applies if the insurance cover extends to several persons liable to pay damages.

6.2 Unless otherwise agreed, the aggregate amount which the insurer will pay for all occurrences during any one insurance year is limited to twice the agreed limit of indemnity per occurrence.

6.3 Several insured events occurring during the same policy period shall be deemed to be one and the same occurrence if they:

• are attributable to the same cause,
• are attributable to causes that are intrinsically connected in nature and in time,
• result from the repeated distribution of goods with the same intrinsic defects.

6.4 Subject to special agreement, the policyholder may agree to assume a certain amount, stipulated in the insurance policy and its endorsements, of the compensation payable in respect of a claim (deductible). Unless otherwise agreed, the insurer is obliged, in cases such as these too, to provide defence against unfounded claims.

6.5 The insurer’s outlay for such expenses does not count towards the limits of indemnity.

6.6 If the amount of all legitimate claims arising from an insured event exceed the limit of indemnity, the insurer will pay only that proportion of the costs of legal proceedings that corresponds to the ratio of the limit of indemnity to the total amount of the claim.

6.7 If the policyholder is required to pay the claimant a disability pension, the capital value of which exceeds the limit of indemnity or any amount remaining under that limit after all other indemnities in respect of the same occurrence have been paid, the insurer shall reimburse only that proportion of the pension which corresponds to the ratio of the limit of indemnity or the remainder thereof to the capital value of the pension.

The annuity value is calculated on the basis of the provisions set out in the German ordinance on motor third-party liability insurance, as amended, at the time the insured event occurred. In calculating the sum with which the policyholder must participate in on-going annuity payments, if the capital value of the annuity exceeds the insured sum or...
Inception of the insurance cover / premium payment

8. Inception of the insurance cover

Insurance cover commences at the time stated in the policy document, provided that the policyholder has paid the initial or single premium within the period provided for in No. 9.1. The invoiced premium includes the insurance tax payable by the policyholder at the statutory rate applicable.

9. Payment of premiums and consequences of late payment / initial or single premium

9.1 The initial or single premium is payable immediately upon conclusion of the insurance contract, but no earlier than on the date of inception of cover. If the premium for the year is payable in instalments, the initial premium is considered to be the first instalment of the first annual premium.

9.2 If the policyholder fails to pay the initial or single premium in good time but at some later date, the insurance cover shall incept at that later date. This does not apply if the policyholder can prove that he has been prevented from paying the premium by causes beyond his control. If the premium has not yet been paid when a covered event occurs, the insurer is exempt from his obligation to pay only if he drew the policyholder’s attention to the legal consequence of not paying the premium by way of a separate written advice or clear notification in the policy document.

9.3 If the policyholder fails to pay the initial or single premium in good time, the insurer can withdraw from the policy for as long as the premium has not been paid. The insurer is not entitled to withdraw if the policyholder can prove that the non-payment is due to reasons beyond his control.

9.4 If the first premium is not paid on time, the policyholder is considered as being in default 30 days after the expiry of the objection period of 14 days as set out in the policy document and after receipt of a payment request, unless the policyholder is not responsible for the delayed payment. The insurer is entitled to request compensation for the loss incurred through the delay.

10. Payment of premiums and consequences of late payment / renewal

10.1 Unless otherwise agreed, the renewal premiums are payable on the first day of the first month of the agreed premium-payment period.

Payment shall be deemed to have been made on time if it is made at the time stated in the policy document or in the premium statement.

10.2 If any renewal premium is not paid on time, the policyholder will - without a reminder having been sent - be deemed in arrears, unless the delay in payment is due to reasons beyond his control. The insurer is entitled to request compensation for the loss incurred through the delay.

If any renewal premium is not paid on time, the insurer may, by written notice and at the policyholder’s expense, set a period of grace of at least two weeks, within which this payment must be made. This provision is effective only if it contains a breakdown of the individual amounts outstanding, the interest, and the costs, and explains the legal consequences in accordance with Nos. 10.3 and 10.4. If the insured risk is still in default with payment at that time, the fact shall be brought to the attention of the policyholder expressly in the payment request as per No. 10.2, paragraph 3 above.

This notice of termination may be served even at the time when the period of grace is set if the policyholder is still in default with payment at that time, yet the insurer exercises this right of termination but the policyholder pays the outstanding premium and the contract is re-instated.

If insured risks cease to exist either in part or in full, the insurer is entitled upon notifying him of the premium increase, the policyholder must receive this notification no later than one month before the premium increase becomes effective.

An increase in insurance tax does not constitute a cancellation right.

Cancellation due to an insured event

19.1 Notice of cancellation can be served on the insurance policy if:

• the insurer has paid a claim, or

• a lawsuit concerning a liability claim insured under the policy has been served to the policyholder (to the insurer in the case of compulsory insurance).

The written cancellation notice must be received by the other party within one month of the claim being paid or the lawsuit being served.

19.2 Cancellation by the policyholder becomes effective immediately on receipt by the insurer. However, the policyholder can stipulate that the cancellation should take effect at a later date, but at the latest at the end of the current insurance period.

Cancellation on the part of the insurer becomes effective one month after it was served by the policyholder.

19.3 The insurer is entitled upon notifying him of the premium increase. The policyholder must pay the additional premium amount within one month, or the contract becomes void.

19.4 The above provisions also apply to insurance contracts for which the premiums are paid for several years in advance.

19.5 If the insurer has not received the premium payment on the due date, payment shall be deemed to have been made on time if it is made without delay upon receipt of the insurer’s written request for payment.

19.6 If the amount due cannot be drawn because the policyholder has revoked the direct debit authorisation or for other reasons for which the policyholder is responsible, the insurer may insist on future payments being made by a procedure other than by direct debit. The policyholder is not obliged to transfer the premium amount until the insurer requests him in writing to do so.

19.7 If the written cancellation notice must be received by the other party within one month of the notification of the premium increase, the policyholder is entitled upon notifying him of the premium increase, the policyholder must receive this notification no later than one month before the premium increase becomes effective.

An increase in insurance tax does not constitute a cancellation right.

Cancellation due to the sale of insured entities

20.1 If a company which has taken out third party liability insurance is sold to a third party, the latter will assume the rights and obligations of the policyholder arising from the insurance relationship for the duration of ownership. This also applies if a company is taken over by a third party (new owner) on the basis of a usufruct, lease agreement or similar relationship.

20.2 In this event, the insurance relationship may be cancelled in writing if:

• by the insurer vis-à-vis the third party with one month’s notice, or

• by the third party vis-à-vis the insurer with immediate effect or to the end of the current insurance period.

20.3 The right of cancellation lapses:

• if the insurer fails to exercise his right within a month of becoming aware of the transfer to the new owner, or

• if the third party fails to exercise his right within one month of the transfer, whereby the cancellation right remains in existence for one month from the time the third party becomes aware of the transfer to the new owner.

20.4 If the transfer to the third party takes place during a current insurance period, the former policyholder and the third party are jointly and severally liable for paying the insurance premium for this period.

20.5 The former policyholder or the third party must notify the insurer of the transfer of the company without delay.

In the event of a culpable breach of the obligation to notify, the insurer will lapse despite breach of the obligation to notify if the insurer was aware of the sale at the time he should have been notified.

Cancellation due to aggravation of risk or new legislation coming into effect

If the insurer has not exercised the option to withdraw from the contract within one month of becoming aware of the aggravation of the risk.

Double coverage insurance

22.1 Double insurance coverage is said to exist when one and the same risk is insured against the same risk in several different insurance policies.

22.2 If double insurance has come about without the policyholder’s knowledge, he may request that the more recently concluded contract be annulled.

22.3 The right to annulment lapses if not exercised by the policyholder within a month of becoming aware of the double insurance. The annulment takes effect on the date on which the annulment request reaches the insurer.
Policyholder’s duties

23. Duty of precontractual disclosure

23.1 Completeness and accuracy of material facts and circumstances
Up to the time when he submits his declaration, the policyholder shall render to the insurer a faithful and complete account, in writing, of all material facts and circumstances known to him that might influence the insurer’s decision to conclude the contract with the proposed content, and, in particular, to answer the questions the insurer has set down in writing. Further, the policyholder shall provide answers to questions set down by the insurer in writing within the meaning of sentence 1 above after the declaration has been submitted but before the proposal has been accepted.

A material fact is a circumstance that would influence the insurer’s decision to accept or decline the insurance contract.

If the policy is taken out by an authorised representative of the policyholder and if this person is aware of the material facts and circumstances, the policyholder must submit to the insurer such knowledge or had concealed such circumstances with intent to deceive.

23.2 Withdrawal from the insurance contract

23.2.1 Incomplete or inaccurate declarations concerning material facts and circumstances entitle the insurer to withdraw from the insurance contract.

23.2.2 If the insurer does not have the right to withdraw from the contract if the policyholder can prove that the incomplete or inaccurate material facts and circumstances were not submitted deliberately or as a result of gross negligence.

The insurer’s right to withdraw from the contract due to a grossly negligent breach of precontractual duty to disclose does not apply if the policyholder can prove that the insurer would have concluded the insurance contract anyway, even if he had been aware of the undeclared facts and circumstances, albeit with different terms and conditions.

23.2.3 If the insurer withdraws from the contract, the insurance cover lapses.

If the insurer withdraws from the contract after a loss event has already occurred, he must provide the policyholder with a copy of the proposal for the insurance contract.

If the insurer is not entitled to withdraw or cancel because it has been proved that the insurer would have concluded the insurance contract anyway, even if he had been aware of the undeclared facts and circumstances, albeit with different terms and conditions.

If the insurer is unable to withdraw from the contract because the policyholder can prove that the insurer would have concluded the insurance contract anyway, even if he had been aware of the undeclared facts and circumstances, albeit with different terms and conditions.

If the insurer is not entitled to withdraw or cancel because it has been proved that he would have concluded the insurance contract even if he had been aware of the undeclared facts and circumstances, albeit with different terms and conditions.

If the insurer cannot be proved that the breach of duty was not the result of a grossly negligent act, insurance cover will remain intact if the policyholder can prove that the breach of duty did not result in the delay in losing the insurance contract.

Likewise, insurance cover will remain intact if the policyholder can prove that the breach of duty did not influence neither the loss event occurring nor the size or scale of the payment obligation. In this case, however, insurance cover will lapse if the policyholder breached the duty of disclosure with malicious intent.

However, the insurer retains his entitlement to the part of the premium which corresponds to the policy period that had elapsed at the time the declaration of withdrawal became effective.

23.3 Premium adjustment or right to cancel the contract

If the insurer is unable to withdraw from the contract because the policyholder can prove that the incomplete or inaccurate declarations were made through no fault of his own, the insurer is entitled to cancel the insurance policy with one month’s written notice.

The insurer’s right to cancel does not apply if the policyholder can prove that the insurer would have concluded the insurance contract anyway, even if he had been aware of the undeclared facts and circumstances, albeit with different terms and conditions.

If the insurer is not entitled to withdraw or cancel because it has been proved that he would have concluded the insurance contract even if he had been aware of the undeclared facts and circumstances, albeit with different terms and conditions.

If, as a result of the contract amendment, the insurer increases the premium by more than 10 % or excludes the hitherto undeclared circumstance from insurance cover, the policyholder is entitled to cancel the insurance contract with notice within a month of receiving the notification from the insurer.

The insurer must exercise the rights to which he is entitled in accordance with Nos. 23.2.2 and 23.3 above within one month from the time at which he became aware of the breach of duty of disclosure upon which his rights are founded. He must state the circumstances on which his claim is based and may submit further evidence by writing within one month after justifying his case at a later date provided that the one-month deadline has not passed. The insurer is entitled to exercise his rights under Nos. 23.2 and 23.3 above only if he has drawn the policyholder’s attention to the legal consequences of a breach of duty of precontractual disclosure.

The insurer is not entitled to exercise his rights under Nos. 23.2 and 23.3 above if he was aware of the undeclared material circumstance the inaccurate disclosure.

23.4 Lapsing of the insurer’s rights

The insurer’s rights under Nos. 23.2 and 23.3 above lapse five years after the insurance contract is concluded. This does not apply to insured events that occurred before this period ended. The period extends to 10 years if the policyholder or his authorised representative deliberately or fraudulently breached the duty of disclosure.

23.5 Avoidance

The insurer’s right to avoid the contract on the grounds of fraudulent misrepresentation of material circumstances remains unaffected. In the event of avoidance, the insurer is entitled to withdraw from the insurance contract if the policyholder did not keep his representations on the contract. The insurer’s right to avoid the contract corresponds to the policy period that had elapsed at the time the declaration of avoidance became effective.

24. Duties before the occurrence of an insured event

The policyholder is obliged to rectify, within a reasonable time, any circumstances that would indicate a particular hazard and which the insurer has reasonably required to be rectified. This does not apply if rectification of the hazards is deemed unnecessary as a result of the policyholder’s interests. Any circumstances that have already given rise to a claim are deemed per se to represent a particular hazard.

25. Duties after the occurrence of an insured event

25.1 The insurer must be informed of any insured event within a week of it occurring, even if claims have already been made.

25.2 The policyholder must ensure that the loss/damage is averted and/or minimised as far as possible.

The policyholder must observe all reasonable instructions given by the insurer. In particular, he may either record and provide the insurer with detailed and accurate loss reports and assist him in investigating and settling the claim. He must inform the insurer of all material facts relevant to the claim, and must submit to the insurer all the documents which, in the latter’s opinion, are material to the as- sessment of the claim.

25.3 If a liability claim is made against the policyholder, a judicial inquiry instituted or a payment order issued, or if he is served with court notice, the policyholder must likewise notify the insurer immediately.

25.4 He must, within the prescribed time limits and without waiting for instructions from the insurer, enter formal appeal against any payment order or any order by a public authority requiring a compensation and must avail himself of all legal remedies at his disposal.

25.5 If legal proceedings ensue with regard to a claim, the policyholder must entrust the conduct of the case to the insurer, grant the lawyer appointed or designated by the insurer power of attorney, and submit to such lawyer all information and documents considered necessary by the lawyer or the insurer.

Legal consequences of a breach of duties

26.1 If the policyholder breaches a contractual duty he should have fulfilled before the insured event occurred, the insurer is entitled to cancel the policy without notice within one month of becoming aware of the breach of duty. The insurer does not have the right to withdraw from the contract if the policyholder can prove that the breach of duty was committed neither deliberately nor as a result of gross negligence.

26.2 If the policyholder breaches a contractual duty deliberately, insurance cover will be lost. If the policyholder breaches a contractual duty through gross negligence, the insurer is entitled to reduce the benefits payable in proportion to the degree of culpability of the policyholder.

Full or partial loss of insurance cover due to a breach of contractual duty after the insured event is subject to the insurer having notified the policyholder in writing of the legal consequences of such a breach. If the policyholder can prove that the breach of duty was not the result of a grossly negligent act, insurance cover will remain intact.

Likewise, insurance cover will remain intact if the policyholder can prove that the breach of duty influenced neither the loss event occurring nor the size or scale of the insurer’s payment obligation. This does not apply, however, if the policyholder breached the duty with malicious intent.

The above provisions apply regardless of whether the insurer exercises his right under No. 26.1 above to cancel the contract.

Other provisions

27. Other persons insured

27.1 Insofar as insurance cover extends to liability claims against persons other than the policyholder himself, the provisions of this insurance contract referring to the policyholder shall apply correspondingly to such other persons.

28. Prohibition of assignment

Rights or benefits under the insurance contract may not, except with the express consent of the insurer, be assigned or pledged to others before their final verification. Assignment of rights to the injured third party is permitted.

29. Notifications, declarations of intent, and changes of address

29.1 All notifications or declarations of intent to the insurer must be sent to the insurer’s head office or to the branch office designated as competent in the insurance document or any endorsements thereto.

29.2 If the policyholder is a natural person, declarations of intent to the insurer of a change of business address, address of the insurer or of his branch office in charge of the insurance contract. If the policyholder is a natural person, the court of the policyholder’s place of abode at the time the claim was lodged or, in the absence thereof, his normal place of residence, is also responsible.

30. Time limits

30.1 Claims arising from this insurance contract are subject to a limitation period of three years as set down in the general provisions of the German Code of Civil Law.

If the policyholder has reported a claim to the insurer, the limitation period is suspended until the policyholder has received a decision in writing from the insurer.

31. Legal venue

31.1 The venue for legal actions brought against the insurer on the basis of the insurance contract rests with the insurer or with his branch office in charge of the insurance contract. If the policyholder is a natural person, the court of the policyholder’s place of abode at the time the claim was lodged or, in the absence thereof, his normal place of residence, is also responsible.

31.2 If the policyholder is a natural person, claims made against him arising from the insurance contract must be brought before the court of the location of his place of abode or, in the absence thereof, his normal place of residence. The same applies if the policyholder is a general commercial partnership, a limited partnership, a civil-law association or an incorporated society.

31.3 If neither the policyholder’s place of abode nor his normal place of residence is known at the time the claim is lodged, the legal venue for actions brought against the policyholder on the basis of the insurance contract rests with the competent court at the domicile of the insurer or of the relevant branch office in charge of the insurance contract.

32. Applicable law

This contract is governed by German law.
1. Personal third-party liability insurance

1.1 Within the scope of the German General Terms and Conditions of Liability Insurance (Allgemeine Haftpflichtversicherungsbedingungen, hereinafter referred to as the “AHPV”) and the following provisions, and applicable to the person cited by name in the insurance policy (hereinafter referred to as the policyholder), coverage shall apply to the statutory liability of the policyholder in his capacity as a private individual arising from everyday perils.

The policy does not cover perils arising from:

- the policyholder’s or a third party’s business or trade, of a profession, duty, or official position (including honorary positions). This does not apply to a period of vocational training undertaken during studies;
- pursuance of a profession or a business, or an organization of any kind;
- of unusual and dangerous occupations.

1.2 Contrary to No. 1.1 above, the statutory liability of the policyholder arising from his exercising an honorary post is covered by the insurance. The liability of the policyholder arising from his holding/exercising an office (full-time position) is not covered. If another insurance policy exists for the activity described in the first paragraph above, insurance cover in the context of this agreement and the underlying special conditions on personal liability insurance shall extend only to loss / damage for which benefit is not obtainable under the other policy.

2. Other persons insured

2.1 Spouses

The insurance also extends to the statutory liability of the policyholder’s spouse or registered civil partner with regard to the insured activities.

2.2 Unmarried children

2.2.1 The insurance extends to the statutory liability of children who are neither married nor co-habiting with a partner in civil union (including stepchildren, adopted children, and foster children), in the case of children who have come of age, however, only in as far as they are still attending uninterrupted schooling or an uninterrupted period of initial vocational training which followed on immediately from the schooling.

Initial vocational training includes apprenticeships and/ or study – or the other way round, provided that, as a second apprenticeship or second period of study, a period spent as a trainee lawyer, a period of practical training as a doctor, further training, and the like.

Insurance cover remains in force during a period of military or civilian service (including any additional voluntary service) during or following on from the vocational training.

“Immediately” and “uninterrupted” in the sense of this insurance means a period of up to twelve months duration.

2.2.2 The insurance extends to the statutory liability of mentally handicapped children living in the same household who are neither married nor co-habiting with a partner in civil union (including stepchildren, adopted children, and foster children). The following applies to loss / damage caused by children covered under the insurance:

- At the volition of the policyholder and provided that another insurance policy (e.g. a social security institution, hull insurer) is not obliged to pay, the insurer will refrain from citing exemption from criminal liability of minors (who are not responsible for their actions). Contributory fault of the injured party will be taken into consideration.
- The insurer retains his rights to recover expenses against a third party liable for damages (e.g. due to failure to supervise), provided said persons are not insured under the policy.

The indemnity payable by the insurer is stated in the policy document.

2.3 Civil partnerships

Insurance cover extends – where explicitly agreed and stated in the policy and its endorsements – to the statutory liability as a private individual of a partner who is co-habiting in civil union, including stepchildren, adopted children, and her/children within the meaning of No. 2.2 above, provided that neither the policyholder nor the insured partner is married.

2.3.1 Insurance cover does not extend to liability claims

- brought by the policyholder against other persons insured under the policy;
- brought by other persons insured under the policy against the policyholder;
- brought by other persons insured under the policy among themselves.

Insurance cover does, however, extend to claims of recourse from the transfer of rights from social insurance/social security institutions, private health insurance funds, private and public employers arising from a bodily injury claim.

2.3.2 Insurance cover lapses as from the time when the partners cease to live together in the same household.

2.4 Family members

Insurance cover extends to the statutory liability of a private individual of a single family member living together in the same household as the policyholder, such as a mother, father, grandfather, grandmother, grandchild, sibling, niece or nephew, as well as unmarried children who have come of age and have completed their education.

2.5 Family members requiring special nursing care who are living in the same household as the policyholder

Insurance cover extends to the statutory liability of a private individual of family members requiring special nursing care and living in the same household who have been rated as requiring at least Care Level 1 by the statutory long-term care insurance authorities.

Family members are the policyholder’s parents and children, adoptive parents and children, parents-, sons- and daughters-in-law, step-children and -parents, grandparents and grandchildren, brothers and sisters, and foster-parents and -children (persons who are attached to each other in the manner of parents and children through a family-like relationship of long standing).

3. Personal liability insurance for public, public service, and regular employees

3.1 Personal liability insurance for public, public service, and regular employees (in the Federal Republic of Germany and to take part in lessons at school (permission of the school))

4. Personal liability insurance for domestic staff

4.1 Personal liability insurance for domestic staff

4.1.1 Of one or more apartments, including holiday apartments.

In the case of apartments, insurance cover is granted in the policyholder’s capacity as an “individual owner” under German property law. Also covered is the statutory liability arising from claims brought by the community of apartment owners for damage to property under communal ownership. The obligation to indemnify does not, however, extend to that part of the communal property that the policyholder is entitled to share with other owners.

4.1.2 Of a house, provided that the house does not contain more than two separate apartments.

4.1.3 Of a weekend/holiday apartment, including the garages and gardens set out in Nos. 4.1.1 to 4.1.3, including all related installations.

4.2 Insurance cover is granted on condition that the named properties

- are located in Germany;
- are used by the policyholder as residential property for at least some of the family members;
- are not used by the policyholder for commercial or business purposes.

4.3 Insurance cover extends to the statutory liability of the policyholder arising from a breach of the policyholder’s obligations as an owner (e.g. house maintenance, lighting, cleaning, salting / gritting and clearing snow from paths, insolar as these duties are set down in the rental agreement), arising from the joint ownership of communal facilities belonging to the insured objects set out in Nos. 4.1.2 to 4.1.3 above, e.g. communal access ways to the road, drying areas for clothes, garage forecourts, area for dustbins;
• in his capacity as the operator of a solar-panel system installed on the roof of an insured building according to No. 4.1.1, or on the associated plot of land. Insurance cover remains – to some degree contrary to No. 1.1 – even if electricity is being fed into the national grid.

• in his capacity as the operator of a solar water heating system installed on the roof of an insured building according to No. 4.1.1, or on the associated plot of land. Insurance cover remains – to some degree contrary to No. 1.1 – even if warm water is being provided at a cost to tenants and other third parties as in the associated list of

a) arising from the letting of:
   - individual rooms in the objects according to Nos. 4.1.1 to 4.1.3 above;
   - an apartment in an object according to No. 4.1.2;
   - an object according to No. 4.1.3;
   - garages belonging to the objects according to Nos. 4.1.1 to 4.1.3 above;

b) arising from the letting of a building project owner involved in the construction of new buildings, conversions, repairs, demolition or excavation work up to the total budgeted construction cost per project set out in the policy document. If this amount is exceeded, the policyholder must take separate building owners’ third-party liability insurance for the entire building project.

c) in his capacity as the previous owner pursuant to Art. 836, Para. 2 German Civil Code (BGB) if the insurance cover existed until the change of owners;

d) in his capacity as the administrator in insolvent proceedings.

5. Damage to rented property

5.1 Contrary to No. 7.6 AHB, insurance cover extends to the statutory liability of the policyholder for damage to property and all financial losses arising therefrom which is caused to rented buildings, accommodation, and other rooms in buildings rented for private purposes.

5.2 The policy does not cover:

5.2.1 liability claims due to:
   - wear and tear, and excessive usage;
   - damage to heating installations, machinery, boiler plants and water heating systems, and to electrical and gas appliances, and all resulting financial losses;
   - damage to plate glass, insofar as the policyholder is able to take out a separate policy for this purpose;
   - damage caused by the formation of mould.

5.2.2 scarf claims due to the waiver of rights of subrogation agreed upon among German fire insurance companies for the event of fire spreading to other property (Abkommen der Feuerversicherer bei übergreifenden Schadensereignissen).

5.3 The indemnity payable by the insurer is stated in the policy document.

6. Animals

Insurance cover extends to the statutory liability of the policyholder in his capacity as the keeper or custodian of tame pets, small tame domestic animals and bees, though not of dogs, cattle, horses, other riding animals and draft animals, wild animals, and animals that are kept for commercial or agricultural purposes. Notwithstanding the above, however, insurance cover does extend to the statutory liability of the policyholder in his capacity as the keeper of a trained guide dog, provided that a severely handicapped pass (stamped H) has been issued by the pension office.

6.2 in his capacity as a rider of horses belonging to a third party for private purposes.

6.3 arising from the minding of dogs belonging to a third party, provided this is not conducted on a commercial basis.

6.4 Benefits payable under the animal keeper’s liability insurance shall take precedence over any indemnities payable under this insurance.

6.5 This policy does not cover claims on the part of the animal keeper or owner, or the carriage owner unless the claim is for bodily injury and provided that cover does not already exist via a separate animal keeper’s liability insurance policy.

7. Motor vehicles, aircraft, and watercraft

7.1 This policy does not cover the liability of the owner, proprietor, keeper, or driver of a motor vehicle, aircraft, or watercraft due to damage caused by use of the vehicle or craft.

7.2 However, the policy does cover statutory liability due to loss or damage caused through the use of:

7.2.1 of the following self-propelled land vehicles and trailer, as far as they are not subject to compulsory insurance coverage:
   - motor vehicles and trailers with no stipulated maximum speeds, which only operate on non-professional roads or areas;
   - motor vehicles with a maximum design speed of 6 km/h;
   - self-propelled machinery with a maximum design speed of 20 km/h;
   - remote-controlled model cars.

7.2.1.1 The exclusions set down in Nos. 3.1.2 and 4.3.1 AHB do not apply to these vehicles.

7.2.2 of model aircraft, unmanned balloons and kites, which are driven neither by engines nor propulsion elements, and whose airborne weight does not exceed 5 kg (except attachments such as lines, cords and gear), and for whose operation in airspace a licence is not required. When an insured event occurs, if the insured person is entitled to claim from a separate aircraft insurance/owner’s insurance, this claim shall take precedence over the benefits set out in the terms and conditions of this insurance. This applies also in the event that insurance cover exists in the form of a group insurance policy.

7.2.3 of the following watercraft:
   - recreational watercraft, excluding the policyholder’s own sailing boats and any own or third-party recreational watercraft with a motor (including auxiliary or outboard motors) or propulsion element (see Section 8, however);
   - windsurfing boards/sailboards;
   - remote-controlled model cars.

8. Occasional use of motor-assisted boats belonging to third parties

8.1 Contrary to No. 7.2.3, the policy covers the statutory liability of the policyholder due to loss or damage caused by the use of motor-assisted boats belonging to third parties (including motor-assisted sailboats) with an engine power of up to 55 kW (75 HP), provided that this is not exercised temporarily in each case up to a maximum of four weeks.

8.2 Coverage does not apply to the use of watercraft, which:
   - are kept by or are in the possession of additional insured persons;
   - are taken into safekeeping or possession for an uninterrupted period of more than four weeks.

8.3 Operation without a licence

The watercraft may be used by authorised operators only. An authorised operator is someone whom an authorised person has knowingly and willingly granted permission to use the watercraft. The policyholder shall ensure that the craft is not operated by an unauthorised person.

The operator may use the watercraft only when in possession of the necessary licence. The policyholder shall ensure that the craft is not operated by anyone who does not have the necessary operating licence.

If the policyholder breaches these duties, the provisions of No. 26 AHB (Legal consequences of a breach of obligations) applies.

9. Insured events occurring during periods spent abroad

9.1 Contrary to No. 7.9 AHB, the policy covers the statutory liability of the policyholder arising from insured events (loss and/or damage) occurring outside Europe for a maximum stay of 60 months, and from insured events occurring within Europe for an unlimited stay.

9.2 Supplementary to No. 3, cover extends to the statutory liability of the policyholder arising from the temporary usage or rental (not possession) of houses and apartments located abroad, as well as the possession of houses and apartments set out in No. 4.1 of these special terms and conditions when located in other European countries.

9.3 The insurer shall make all payments in euros. If the place of payment should be situated outside the countries that belong to the European Monetary Union, then the insurer’s obligations shall be considered to have been fulfilled at the point at which the sum in euros is remitted to a financial institution situated within the European Monetary Union.

10. Payment of bail in the event of losses occurring abroad

If payment of bail is imposed on the policyholder by law as security for insurance benefits on the basis of his statutory liability, the insurer will indemnify the policyholder for the required bail amount up to the limit of indemnity per insured event stated in the policy document. The aggregate limit for all insured events of a given policy year is twice the limit of indemnity.

The bail amount will be offset from any damages payable by the insurer.

If the bail amount is higher than the damages payable, the policyholder shall reimburse the insurer for the difference. The same applies if the bail is withheld as a penalty, fine, or for the purpose of enforcing uninsured claims for damages, or if the bail is forfeited.

The insurer shall make all payments in euros. If the place of payment should be situated outside the countries that belong to the European Monetary Union, then the insurer’s obligations shall be considered to have been fulfilled at the point at which the sum in euros is remitted to a financial institution situated within the European Monetary Union.

11. Weapons, ammunition and projectiles

The policy covers the statutory liability of the policyholder arising from the liabilities of private owners and the use of cutting weapons, thrust weapons, and firearms, as well as ammunition and projectiles. Coverage does not apply to the use of the aforementioned weapons for hunting or for criminal offenses.

12. Changes in water quality

Insurance cover (whereby financial losses are treated the same as damage to property) extends to the statutory liability of the policyholder for the direct or indirect consequences of changes to the physical, chemical or biological properties of a body of water, including the groundwater (damage to waterbodies), with the exception of the policyholder’s liability as the owner of facilities used to store substances harmful to water and arising from the use of these substances (cover for this purpose is granted exclusively by way of a special acceptance).

12.1 Insured facilities

• Contrary to No. 12, coverage does, however, extend to the policyholder’s statutory liability as the owner of facilities for storing substances harmful to water in containers with a capacity of up to 10,000 litres/kilogrammes (provisional limit) or temporarily in each case up to four weeks.

If these quantities are exceeded, coverage no longer applies. No. 3.1.2 AHB (Aggravation and extension of insured risk) and Nos. 3.1.3 and 4.4 AHB (Automatic extension of cover) do not apply.

12.2 Costs of rescue operations

Any expenditure, whether effective or not, which the insured person might reasonably be supposed to have been necessary in order to prevent or minimize the damage or loss in an insured event (costs of rescue operations), as well as the out-of-court costs of expert appraisers, shall be borne by the insurer to the extent that, when taken together with the compensation, they do not exceed the sum insured for damage to property. The provisions of the AHB shall continue to apply in relation to legal costs and lawyer's fees.

The costs of rescue operations and out-of-court expert appraisals expended in accordance with the insurer’s instructions shall also be reimbursed, even to the extent that, when taken together with the compensation, they exceed the sum insured for damage to property. Sanction or endorsement on the part of the insurer of measures taken by the Insured or third parties to prevent or minimise damage or loss shall not be considered to be instructions issued by the insurer.

12.3 Violations/breaches of duty

Cover does not extend to liability claims against persons who have brought about the loss or damage by deliberately breaching the laws and regulations or decrees and official orders issued by the policyholder for the purpose of protecting waters and waterways.

12.4 Dangers to the public

Cover does not include liability claims for loss or damage demonstrably due to events of war or hostilities, riots and civil commotions, general strikes, illegal strikes, or directly due to the actions or orders of public authorities. The same applies to loss or damage through force majeure, as far as natural forces have operated.

13. Loss of private and business keys belonging to third parties

Supplementary to No. 2.2 AHB and contrary to No. 7.6 AHB, cover extends to the policyholder’s statutory liability arising from the loss of private keys belonging to third parties (including primary/master keys for central locking systems), which were lawfully in the safekeeping of the policyholder.

Coverage extends to statutory liability claims due to the costs incurred in the necessary replacement of locks and locking systems, as well as to temporary security measures (emergency locking) and protection of property for up to 14 days, calculated from the moment at which the loss of the key was first noticed.

In the case of individual ownership, the insurance covers liability claims lodged by the community or its members. The obligation to indemnify does not, however, extend to part that of the communal property that the policyholder shares with the other owners.

13.1 The policy does not cover claims arising from

• consequential loss or damage resulting from the loss of a key (e.g. due to a burglary);
• the loss of keys that were relinquished to the policyholder’s employer by customers or other third parties;
• the loss of keys to safe and items of furniture and of other keys to moveable property.

13.2 The indemnity payable by the insurer is stated in the policy document.

14. Pure financial losses

Cover also extends to the policyholder’s statutory liability for pure financial losses within the meaning of No. 2.1 AHB arising from insured events that occur during the policy period.

The policy does not cover claims arising from

• loss or damage arising through work performed, items produced or services rendered by the policyholder (or by third parties on behalf or on account of the policyholder);
• work involving planning, consulting, site supervision, construction supervision, testing, or expert appraisal;
• activities in connection with financial and credit transactions or the conduct of insurance, property, leasing, or other similar commercial business, as well as from payment transactions of all kinds, cash management, and from embezzlement and fraud;
• the infringement of intellectual property rights, as well as copyright and competition laws;
• the granting of licences and patents;
• the failure to adhere to deadlines, time limits, cost estimates, and quotations;
• advice, recommendations, or orders given to economically associated companies;
• any kind of intermediary or brokerage business;
• activities in connection with
  • rationalisation and automation;
  • the capture, storage, backing up and restoring of data;
  • the provision of information, translation, travel arrangements;
  • the deliberate breach of statutory or official provisions, from the client’s instructions or terms, or from any other deliberate breach of duty;
• the loss of property, e.g. money, securities, valuables, and cheque and credit cards;
• breaches of duty committed by the policyholder in his capacity as former or present member of the management board, the executive board, the supervisory board, the advisory board or any other management or supervisory body.

The indemnity payable by the insurer is stated in the policy document.

15. Property damage - acts of favour

The following applies to property damage arising from acts of favour: The insurer shall not invoke a tacit exclusion of liability in the event of an act of favour on the part of the policyholder or another insured person if as far as this corresponds to the loss of the policyholder and insurer as another insurer (e.g. via a hull insurance policy) is not liable to pay.

Any contributory fault on the part of the injured party shall be taken into consideration.

The indemnity payable by the insurer is stated in the policy document.

16. Default risk insurance

16.1 Risk insured

16.1.1 Insurance cover is provided when a policyholder – or another person covered by this personal third-party liability insurance – in his capacity as a private individual, has suffered a liability loss, and has brought a claim for bodily injury, property damage or financial loss against the tortfeasor or responsible party (= the third party), and the third party is unable to compensate the policyholder for damages awarded by a court on the basis of a legally binding writ of execution. With this default risk insurance, the position of the policyholder is as if the third party had taken out the same personal liability insurance cover as he himself. Thus, the insurer will examine the general terms and conditions of liability insurance, the special conditions of personal third-party liability insurance, and all the agreed clauses to see whether the third party would have had insurance cover for this loss event (claim).

Above and beyond the scope of the personal third-party liability insurance, in 16.1.2 The claim is brought on the basis of legal liability under private law.

16.1.3.1 The incident which led to the claim for bodily injury, property damage or financial loss must have happened during the effective term of the default risk insurance.

16.2 Conditions for payment of benefits

16.2.1 The policyholder must have been awarded damages by a German court on the basis of a legally binding writ of execution.

A legally binding writ of execution within the meaning of these terms and condi-

16.2.2 An attempt to enforce the writ against the third party must have failed. This is the case if
• judicial execution has not resulted in the policyholder’s claim for damages being paid in full or in part;
• circumstances suggest that the likelihood of even part of the claim being paid is futile, e.g. because the third party has already signed a statutory declaration to this effect.

16.3 Amount of indemnity payable

The insurer will indemnify the policyholder for the amount of damages deter-

16.4 Duties

16.4.1 The policyholder must submit an application for indemnification.

16.4.2 The policyholder must prove that the attempt at enforcing the writ failed.

To this end, the policyholder must provide the insurer with the following docu-

16.4.3 The claim for damages brought by the policyholder against the third party shall be assigned to the insurer provided that the latter has agreed to indemnify the policyholder. To this end, the policyholder must sign a written declaration of as-

16.4.4 The policyholder must provide the insurer with detailed and accurate loss reports, inform the insurer of all facts relevant to the claim, and submit to the insurer all the documents which, in the latter’s opinion, are material to the as-

16.4.5 The insurer will indemnify the policyholder in the event of an act of favour in the event of an act of favour, in that the duties stated in No. 16.4 above are observed.

If the policyholder fails to comply with these obligations, the provisions of No. 26 AHB will apply. If the corresponding requirements exist, the insurer may be entitled to cancel the policy or be exempted, either in full or in part, from his obligation to indemnify the policyholder.

16.6 Exclusions

The insurer will not indemnify if

16.6.1 The permanent place of residence of the third party is located in a country out-

16.6.2 Compensation for loss or damage suffered is payable via other insurance policies taken out by the policyholder or another insured person. If these sums are not sufficient, insurance cover for the remaining amount will be granted via the default risk insurance;

16.6.3 A social security institution or benefits authority is obliged to pay the claim of the policyholder or another person insured under the policy.

17. Loss/damage arising out of the exchange of data or use of the Internet

17.1 Contrary to Nos. 7.15 and 7.16 AHB, the policy covers the statutory liability of the policyholder for loss/damage arising from the exchange, transfer and provision of electronic data, e.g. in the Internet, via e-mail, or on data storage media, pro-

17.1.1 data of a third-party system being deleted, suppressed, rendered unusable or modified (data manipulation) by a computer virus and/or other malware;

17.1.2 data of a third-party system being manipulated for other reasons, and data not having been entered or not saved correctly, in respect of
• any consequential bodily injury or property damage, but not other forms of data manipulation, and
• the cost of restoring the manipulated data, or re-capturing or correctly storing data that had either not been backed up or not backed up correctly;

17.1.3 a third party being temporarily unable to access data exchange networks.

The following applies to Nos. 17.1.1 to 17.1.3:
The policyholder is obliged to ensure that the electronic data to be exchanged, transferred or provided is safeguarded and has been checked by state-of-the-art security measures and/or facilities (e.g. virus scanners, firewalls). These measures may be carried out also by a third party if the policyholder fails to comply with these obligations, the provisions of No. 26 AHB (legal consequences of a breach of duties) will apply.

17.1.4 the infringement of personality rights, including claims arising from intellectual property rights, but not the violation of copyrights;
17.1.5 the infringement of rights to a name, including claims arising from intellectual property rights.

The following applies to Nos. 17.1.4 and 17.1.5:
Supplementary to No. 1.1 AHB, the insurer will indemnify the policyholder for:
- the legal costs of court proceedings in which a temporary injunction has been issued against the policyholder, even if this involves retraction or revocation;
- the legal costs of a retraction or revocation suit brought against the policyholder.

17.2 The limit of indemnity per insured event is stated in the policy document. The aggregate limit for all insured events of a given policy year is twice this limit of indemnity.

The limit of indemnity for losses within the meaning of No. 17.1.5 above within the aforementioned limit of indemnity is stated in the policy document.

Several insured events occurring during the same policy period shall be deemed to be one and the same occurrence if they
- are attributable to the same cause,
- are attributable to causes that are intrinsically linked in nature and in time,
- result from the exchange, transmission or provision of electronic data with the same intrinsic defects.

No. 6.3 AHB is void.

17.3 Insurance cover for loss events occurring abroad Contrary to No. 7.9 AHB, insurance cover extends to loss events occurring abroad provided that the insured liability claims are asserted in a European country in accordance with the laws of European countries.

17.4 Insurance cover does not extend to liability claims arising from work and services conducted in the following areas:
- the generation, trading, implementation and maintenance of software;
- IT analysis, organisation, instruction, and training;
- network planning, installation, integration, and maintenance;
- provision of third-party contents (e.g. access, host, full-service provisioning);
- the operation of databases.

17.5 Excluded from the insurance cover are liability claims
17.5.1 arising from loss/damage caused by the policyholder consciously
- gaining unauthorised access to data processing systems/networks (e.g. hacker attacks, denial-of-service attacks),
- employing software capable of destroying or modifying the organisation of the data (e.g. software viruses, Trojan Horses, etc.),
- that are closely related to
- the mass mailing of unsolicited electronic information (e.g. spamming),
- files (e.g. cookies) used to illegally gather specific information about Internet users,
- brought against the policyholder or any other insured person who has caused a loss through deliberately failing to comply with statutory or official regulations (e.g. participation in illegal online file sharing services) or through any other deliberate breach of duty.

18. Claims made in the USA and in Canada
In the case of claims occurring in the USA/US territories* or Canada or brought before the courts in the USA/US territories or Canada, the following applies:
18.1 Claims for damages imposed by way of sanctions, in particular punitive or exemplary damages, are excluded from the cover.
18.2 Contrary to No. 6.5 AHB, the insurer’s outlay for expenses does not count towards the limit of indemnity.

Costs are defined as:
- lawyers’ and experts’ fees, witnesses’ expenses and court costs; expenses for the prevention or mitigation of loss during or after the occurrence of the insured event; also loss investigation costs, including travel expenses not incurred by the insurer himself. This applies even if these costs were incurred on the insurer’s instructions.

19. Continuation of personal liability insurance cover after the death of the policyholder
In the event of the policyholder’s death, the other persons insured under the policy will remain covered in accordance with the terms and conditions of the policy up until the next premium due date. If the following premium is then paid by the surviving spouse, the registered civil partner or the civil partner insured under the policy, that person will become the new policyholder.

20. Personal Third-Party Liability Insurance for Animal Owners
Within the scope of the German General Terms and Conditions of Liability Insurance (AHB) and the following provisions, and applicable to the person named in the insurance policy, coverage shall apply to the statutory liability of the policyholder in his capacity as the owner of the animals and their young (up to the age of six months) as described in the policy document and the endorsements hereinto. If the 6-month time period is exceeded, the provisions of No. 3.1.2 AHB (Aggravation and extension of insured risk) applies.

20.1 Other persons insured
Also insured is the statutory liability of the keeper or custodian of the animals, provided this is not conducted on a commercial basis.

20.2 Insured events occurring during periods spent abroad
Contrary to No. 7.9 AHB, the policy covers the statutory liability of the policyholder arising from insured events occurring abroad for a maximum stay of 60 months.

The insurer shall make all payments in euros. If the place of payment should be situated outside the countries that belong to the European Monetary Union, then the insurer’s obligations shall be considered to have been fulfilled at the point at which the sum in euros is remitted to a financial institution situated within the European Monetary Union.

20.3 Damage to rented property
20.3.1 Contrary to No. 7.6 AHB, insurance cover extends to the statutory liability of the policyholder for damage to property and all financial losses arising therefrom which is caused to rented buildings, accommodation, and other rooms in buildings rented for private purposes.
20.3.2 The policy does not cover
20.1.2 liability claims due to
- wear and tear, and excessive usage;
- damage to heating installations, machinery, boiler plants and water heating systems, and to electrical and gas appliances, and all resulting financial losses;
- damage to plate glass, insofar as the policyholder is able to take out a separate policy for this purpose;
- damage caused by the formation of mould;
20.3.2.2 recourse claims falling under the waiver of rights of subrogation agreed upon among German fire insurance companies for the event of fire spreading to other property (Abkommen der Feuerversicherer bei übergefeindet Schadenereignissen).
20.3.3 The indemnity payable by the insurer is stated in the policy document.

20.4 Pure financial losses
Cover also extends to the policyholder’s statutory liability for pure financial losses within the meaning of No. 1.1 AHB arising from insured events that occur during the policy period. The policy does not cover claims arising from
- loss or damage arising through work performed, items produced or services rendered by the policyholder (or by third parties on behalf or on account of the policyholder);
- work involving planning, consulting, site supervision, construction supervision, testing, or expert appraisal;
- activities in connection with financial and credit transactions or the conduct of insurance, property, leasing, or other similar commercial business, as well as from payment transactions of all kinds, cash management, and from embezzlement and fraud;
- the infringement of intellectual property rights, as well as copyright and competition laws;
- the granting of licences and patents;
- the failure to adhere to deadlines, time limits, cost estimates, and quotations;
- advice, recommendations, or orders given to economically associated companies;
- any kind of intermediary or brokerage business;
- activities in connection with
- rationalisation and automation;
- the capture, storage, backing up and restoring of data;
- the provision of information, translation, travel arrangements;
- the deliberate breach of statutory or official provisions, from the client’s instructions or terms of reference for the respective deliberate breach of duty.
- the loss of property, e.g. money, securities, valuables, and cheque and credit cards;
- breaches of duty committed by the policyholder in his capacity as former or present member of the management board, the executive board, the supervisory board, the advisory board or any other management or supervisory body.

The indemnity payable by the insurer is stated in the policy document.

* Sublimit within the basic sum insured

Note: The aggregate limit of indemnity for all insured events of a given policy year is twice the sums stated.

§ 3 Area of validity

Coverage exists for the professional and personal liability insurance worldwide. This insurance also covers countries for which the German Federal Foreign Office has issued a current travel warning, with the exception of areas which are in a state of war. In this case, the following war clause applies: “The insurance cover shall not apply if at least two of the following five great powers participate in the events: the USA, Great Britain, France, Red China or the UNO. If the UNO participates in the events, coverage will not automatically be excluded. However, coverage shall not apply if the UNO participates in the events and if one of the parties participating is declared “aggressor”.

For insured persons from the Federal Republic of Germany, the insurance cover, with the exception of professional liability insurance for doctors, also applies to a temporary domestic stay of up to 12 months. For insured persons with a permanent residence outside Germany, the insurance cover does not apply to countries whose nationality the insured person has or where he/she has a permanent residence.

§ 4 Special regulations for professional liability insurance

Insured are damages occurring during internships, which are part of studies or an Erasmus Plus program in the amount of the agreed sum insured.

Damages occurring during internships, which are not part of university studies or an Erasmus Plus program, are covered in the amount of € 10,000. In the latter case, a deductible of € 100 per damage case applies.

Excluded are claims for compensation from accidents by persons who work directly or indirectly for the policyholder, as far as such accidents are considered to be occupational accidents according to German Social Security Acts or foreign laws.

Claims from § 640 par. 1 National Social Insurance Code (RVG) are covered as long as they are made against the legal representative of the policyholder and persons he/she hired to lead or monitor the insured company or part of it.

§ 5 Special regulations for insurance cases in the USA, Canada and countries with US legislation

In the event of insurance cases in the USA, Canada and countries where US legislation is applied, the insurer’s costs will be charged as benefits to the sum insured.

Costs: are lawyer’s fees, expert’s fees, witness fees, and court fees; expenses to avoid or minimize the damage in case of a claim or after a claim is made as well as costs to calculate the damage and travel expenses not accruing to the insurer himself. This also applies if the costs resulted from an instruction by the insurer.

Compensation claims with a penal character are excluded from coverage prei.

§ 6 Liability claims against co-insured persons

Any claims against co-insured persons are covered.

§ 7 Payment of indemnification

Payments of indemnification of both the policyholder and the insurer shall be made exclusively in euros, even if the policyholder is obliged to pay the claimant’s compensation in a foreign currency. The insurer’s obligations shall be considered to have been fulfilled at the point at which the equivalent amount (according to the conversion table) is remitted to a foreign trade bank.

§ 8 Subsidiary coverage

If other private liability insurance exists for the named persons, insurance coverage shall only apply if and insofar as the other insurer is not liable to pay.

Law excerpts

Excerpt from the law on the insurance contract (VVG) (German Insurance Contract Act)

§ 14 Due date of cash benefit

(1) The insurer shall be liable to pay a cash benefit when enquiries necessary to establish the occurrence of the insured event and the extent of the insurer’s liability have been concluded.

(2) If these enquiries have not been concluded one month after notification has been given of the occurrence of the insured event, the policyholder may demand part payment in the amount which the insurer will at least be expected to pay. The time limit shall be suspended for as long as the enquiries cannot be concluded on account of the fault of the policyholder.

(3) An agreement on account of which the insurer is released from the obligation to pay interest on arrears shall be void.

§ 28 Non-observance of an incidental obligation

(1) In the event of the non-observance of an incidental obligation which the policyholder must fulfil vis-à-vis the insurer prior to the occurrence of an insured event, the insurer may terminate the contract without prior notice within one month after learning of the non-observance, unless the non-observance was not intentional or based on gross negligence.

(2) Where the contract provides that the insurer is not obligated to effect payment in the event of the non-observance of an incidental obligation on the part of the policyholder, he shall be released from the liability if the policyholder intentionally breached the obligation. In the case of grossly negligent or non-observance of the obligation, the insurer shall be entitled to reduce any benefits payable commensurate with the severity of the policyholder’s fault. The burden of proof that there was no gross negligence shall be on the policyholder.

(3) Notwithstanding subsection (2), the insurer shall be liable insofar as the non-observance of the obligation neither caused the occurrence or the establishment of the insured event nor the establishment of the insurer’s obligation to effect payment. The first sentence shall not apply if the policyholder fraudulently breached the obligation.

(4) The condition on which the insurer’s entire or partial release from liability in accordance with subsection (2) is based shall, in the event of a violation of an existing duty to provide information or duty of disclosure after the occurrence of an insured event, be the fact that the insurer instructed the policyholder in separate correspondence and in writing of this legal consequence.

§ 86 Assignment of claims

(1) If the policyholder is entitled to claim damages from a third party, this claim shall be assigned to the insurer either as the insurer compensates for the loss. The claim may not be assigned to the detriment of the policyholder.

(2) The policyholder shall safeguard his claim for damages or a right to safeguard this claim in accordance with the applicable form and time requirements, and shall assist the insurer wherever necessary in asserting them. If the policyholder intentionally breaches this obligation, the insurer shall not be obligated to effect payment in the amount he cannot as a result claim compensation for it from a third party. In the event of a grossly negligent breach of the obligation, the insurer shall be entitled to reduce the benefits payable commensurate with the severity of the policyholder’s fault. The burden of proof that there was no gross negligence is on the policyholder.

(3) If the policyholder claims compensation from a person with whom he is sharing a common household and the claims occur, assignment in accordance with subsection (1) cannot be asserted, unless that person intentionally caused the loss.

a) Data protection principles of Dr. Walter GmbH (hereinafter referred to as Dr. Walter)

The protection of your privacy and of your personal data is paramount to us. We guarantee that we will always treat your data with the utmost confidentiality. Nowadays, insurance companies can only carry out their tasks with the aid of electronic data processing (EDP). Our state-of-the-art EDP enables us to handle contractual relationships correctly, quickly and in a cost-effective manner.

Both our behavior and our tools are in accordance with the Federal Data Protection Act (BDSG) as well as with other specific regulations for online data protection. Our data protection officer ensures that our data protection principles and any relating regulations are fully met.

For further information, please go to www.dr-walter.com/datenschutz.

b) Information about the use of your data by Dr. Walter

We need your personal data to process your applications and contracts, for claims handling and for individual supervision and consultancy. Collection, processing and use of your data are regulated by law. We have adopted a code of conduct for the handling of personal data that complies with the code of conduct of the German Insurance Association (GDV). Our code of conduct is based on data protection regulations of the German Insurance Contract Act (VVG), the Federal Data Protection Act as well as other significant laws but also on further measures to strengthen data protection. For more information, go to www.dr-walter.com/datenschutz/personenbezogenedaten to learn about our code of conduct with regard to handling your personal data.

Dr. Walter cooperates with several service providers in the use of health data and other data protected under § 203 German Criminal Code (StGB). At www.dr-walter.com/dienstleisterliste, we provide you with an overview of the service providers we work with.

At your request, we can send you a printed list of the service providers as well as our code of conduct. Please contact:
